WHAT WOULD BENNETT DO?

"Conservatives do not propose to abolish the separate school system as it worked under the territorial government," is the latest announcement of the Conservative press on the school question. How authoritative this pronouncement may be, how widely accepted and strongly held the doctrine which it propounds or how long it is to be considered canonical we are not informed and the reader is left to draw his own conclusions as to whether this is the present phase in the evolution of the series of varied and highly colored kinesthetic views of the school question with which Mr. Bennett and his company are entertaining the people of this Province.

Where then, is the Conservative candidate for Edmonton if "Conservatives do not propose to abolish the separate school system?" is Mr. Griesbach a fourth to be thus iconoclastically heaved overboard? Or have his colleagues fallen from grace and left him the one and only changeless and unchangeable exponent of true Conservatism in the midst of a crooked and perverse party?

The basis of Mr. Bennett's attack on the school policy of the Government has been that if the present legislation be confirmed by the Provincial Parliament, it can never be altered. If Mr. Bennett be right and if his party "do not propose to abolish the separate school system," it must be the purpose of Mr. Bennett and his party to continue forever the existing school system.

We are disposed to accept the statement of the Conservative press as the frank though belated confession of the simple truth. It is the only unequivocal proposition launched as the policy of Conservatism on the school question and as such may be taken as voicing the intent and purpose of that party from the beginning. It should be a source of considerable satisfaction to Alberta Liberals to have the testimony of their enemies thus contributed to the policy for which they stand and to have the admission of the Conservative press that the barn-storming campaign of Mr. Bennett and his friends is a campaign of foundationless "bluff" behind which lies the fundamental purpose of continuing the present school system.

Not less gratifying is the admission this made that the "catch question" which forces this declaration is the real and only question of the school controversy. "What would Bennett do?" will go down to history as the potent query which put Alberta Conservatives out of business on the school question.

MR. BENNETT'S "GREAT SENSATION."

(Contributed)

When Mr. R. B. Bennett exhibited a book used in the primary class of the separate schools, and after reading extracts from it, said, in tones that were meant to startle his audience, "That means Separation!" He knew that he was acting the part of a political charlatan by attempting to impress upon his hearers the idea that he had discovered something new and terrible where nothing new or terrible existed. Mr. Bennett knew perfectly well that the school text-books are matters of detail, that can be changed at any time by the education Department, and are not saddled upon the Province by the British North America Act, or any enactment of the Ottawa Government. He also knew that the particular book that he exhibited with as much gusto as if he had made some new discovery, has been in use for years in this Province. During several of these years Mr. Bennett was a member of the Legislature of the Territories, and yet made no attempt on the floor of the House to have the book, that he now deems so obnoxious, removed from the separate schools. What was Mr. Bennett doing all these years that he did not rise in his might and inform Mr. Hamilton that this little book was undermining the fundamental principles of freedom in the Territories, and was working insidiously to destroy the "cohesion" and "co-extensiveness" powers of this great country.

Mr. Bennett knows, and knows well that his attempt to startle his hearers at the Thistle rink meeting by springing the "separate school primer as a political 'sensational' was a piece of cheap stage play. He knew that the years that the book has been in use in the separate schools and separation in the school system, but, on the contrary, have been years of prosperity, advancement and unity. He knew, too, that the book was placed on the school curriculum by his particular friend, Mr. Hamilton, whom he would be very willing to see Premier of Saskatchewan; and he knew, also, that being a matter of detail, it could be removed from the list of books at any time and a new primer substituted.

Mr. Bennett is temporarily the leader of a political party in Alberta. The duty of a leader is not to make statements that are devoid of fact. When Mr. Bennett stated that the primer styled "separation" and was a menace to our political and civil institutions, he knew that he was talking arrant nonsense. Were not the Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald and the Hon. Christopher Finlay Fraser and many other men trained and educated in the separate schools of Ontario, among the greatest champions of unity and civil and religious liberty? All over the land there are good men and true—yes, as good and as true as Mr. Bennett—who have received their primary training in the separate schools of the older provinces, and who have not learned to spell "separation" from the inside of the primer that they used in their earlier days.

THEN AND NOW

The Difference Between the Ontario and the Alberta Campaigns of Mr. Bennett

One would think to hear Mr. Bennett and those who follow him in the present campaign that the school system of this province was something that had been added upon it by the Dominion Government. Such is not the case, and every intelligent man in Alberta is well aware of the fact.

Previous to 1891, a system of schools existed in the territories that was not satisfactory, and a change was then made by the Territorial Education Department, under the premiership of Mr. Haultain, which since has given unqualified satisfaction to the people of the Territories. During the thirteen years that it was in existence under Territorial legislation no word of reorganization was made by the people in any section of the Territories. Mr. Haultain was then Premier. One stroke of his pen could have wiped out the school legislation that then existed, if it could be shown to be obnoxious to the people or inimical to their welfare, but the Premier refused to use his pen to wipe out the system. Why? Because Mr. Haultain, knowing that the system had been broadened down until it had met the requirements of the country, did not think it wise to alter existing school conditions which years of practical working had proved to be the best that could be provided for the people of this West.

After he was turned down in his autonomy crusade in the Legislative Assembly by Mr. Haultain, Mr. Bennett was, to a considerable extent, a statesman out of a job, but his opportunity came when the autonomy question came up in the Federal Parliament, and was made a party issue by the Opposition in that House. While the question was still under discussion, three constitutions were opened for contest. Hon. Clifford Sifton had resigned and Hon. Frank Oliver was appointed Minister of the Interior, thus opening the constituency of Edmonton in the West; in Ontario, the lamented death of Hon. James Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, and the appointment of Hon. Charles Hyman as his successor, caused elections in North Oxford, east of London.

One would have thought that Mr. Bennett, who, previously had run against Mr. Oliver as a Federal candidate, and had been defeated would have accepted the opportunity offered by the opening of the Edmonton constituency to test the question which he claimed at the time and still claims, is agitating the people of the West to the deepest depth. But Mr. Bennett did not dare to face the music. He knew the people of the West did not take any stock in his agitation vagaries, and he slunk from the contest in Edmonton, and bided his time until the Ontario constituency was opened. Then the political courage which had been wanting when Edmonton was vacant, returned to him, and he turned his face to the east, and made a pilgrimage to Ontario.

There he was hailed by the people who did not know him as a "Young Lookin'ar, who had come out of the West", and the Toronto News adopted him as its bright, particular star, and deputed a special correspondent to accompany him from place to place and preserve to posterity the ornate phrases and choice diction that flowed from the lips of the young member of the Territorial Assembly. Samuel Johnston had his Howell to preserve his utterances and to pen his fulsome praise for the ages. Mr. Bennett had his chronicler for the future in the talented reporter of the Toronto News. Following is a specimen brief:

"All this gives no idea of the magnificent character of the address and of the meeting. Mr. Bennett has introduced Ontario people to a new style of oratory. It is 'ambitious, ornate and excessively rapid, and this young man, those hearers catch his enthusiasm and his determination, and cheer him 'hashing over a rushing, impetuous flood of eloquence in defence of the rights of his adopted country, his 'roughly in earnest, pours out with 'to the echo.'"

If Mr. Bennett were a circus and menagerie combined, with three rings and a snake charmer thrown in, and the reporter was his advance agent, the representative of the Toronto News could not have done better. But let that pass. What we want to know is where was this "ambitious, ornate and excessively rapid style" when the suffering people of the West wanted a champion to break the "felters" and to remove the "shakes", when Edmonton was vacant? Calgary is less than 200 miles from Edmonton and more than 2,000 miles from Oxford, and why did Mr. Bennett not bend his ear to the pleading of the sufferers of the people of the West—if they were suffering—and rush to their rescue and "pour out with finishing" and a rushing flood of oratory in defence of the rights of his adopted country?"

AN OIL REFINERY

Editor the Bulletin—
Now that the factors political are growing warm, if not hot, and as in some respects the policies of the two parties are almost identical, permit me to make a suggestion that may bear consideration and discussion.
In view of the exorbitant price asked for coal oil at the present time, the result of the notorious trust, the Standard Oil Co. and knowing that our province has unlimited supplies of petroleum in the bosom of the earth, why should not our new Provincial Government, whether Liberal or Conservative, as may be decided in the ensuing elections, resolve to make the refining of coal oil a provincial industry—operated by the Province as a Government affair.
We talk about nationalization of matters of concern to all. Here is a case in point. With "gushers" such as have been recently reported, the next step would be a refinery centrally located, and the price of coal oil must take a tumble.
Through it out, Mr. Editor and good readers. If the idea is not possible, let us know. If possible, let us resolve to realize it. Let us have cheaper light.

CHORAL SOCIETY

A very enjoyable practice of the Choral Society was held Tuesday night in the assembly hall of Albert College. There was a very good turnout. Many new members being present. All are enthusiastic over the class and quality of the selections being practiced this season.

Of the four part songs being prepared the following are worth of note: "The Water-Lily," Nels W. Gale. "It comes from the Misty Ages," "From the Banner of St. George," "Two Captives," A. W. Rasmussen. "Madeline," Joseph J. Roedel. "The Dawn of Day," Samuel Reay. "Faithful and true" from Lohengrin. "The Bell of St. Michael's Tower," Sir R. P. Stewart.

Singers wishing to join the society will be welcomed at the next practice, next Tuesday night in the same place.

Then and Now

The answer is a very simple one. Mr. Bennett knew better than to face the electors of the West with the fusion that he could so easily and so glibly rest off to the people of the East, who knew nothing about the school system of the West, and who took for granted every absurd statement that the young Demosthenes from Calgary placed before them in "ambitious and ornate" periods.

The reporter has told us of Mr. Bennett's style of delivery; let us see what he says about his argument on the occasion.

"Going over it carefully, step by step, be (Mr. Bennett) showed that "the Federal North West Territories "Act of 1875, the ordinances of 1884, and of 1892, and of 1901, all of them "contained the provisions for a separate school system in exactly the same words up to 1892 these words "satisfied as the character for a system of separate schools more sectarian, more completely separate than those in Ontario. That was the law that the autonomy bill proposed "to make permanent, so that a dual "system of schools without uniform "inspections with different systems of "text-books, with different curricula, "and where Christian Brothers and "nuns might be allowed to teach without getting diplomas might be re-established the day after the Provinces were inaugurated.

Now, is that a fair presentation of the case by a western public man. Did Mr. Bennett really believe what he was telling the people of Woodstock during the last and stifle of a Dominion election, or was he simply overcome by his own oratory, and merely saying things that he knew to be absurd as well as untrue. Has the Autonomy Bill placed upon the west the separate school system that existed prior to 1891? The Autonomy Bill is in force today in Alberta and Saskatchewan, and we would ask Mr. Bennett if it has made permanent a "dual system of schools without uniform inspection, with different systems of text-books, with different curricula, and where Christian Brothers and nuns might be allowed to teach without getting diplomas?"

Then Mr. Bennett paid a tribute to the existing schools as follows: "The present Territorial schools owed their satisfactory character to the regulations, and these might be changed tomorrow."

The present schools were of a "satisfactory character" when Mr. Bennett was speaking at Woodstock in June last, and they are of a satisfactory character today. No change has been made in them since that date, and yet, Mr. Bennett is now rushing frantically up and down the country, stating that the schools are not of a "satisfactory character" and raving about "rotters" and "shackles" and "poverty."

Mr. Bennett, it will be observed, told the Woodstock people that the "satisfactory character" of the schools in the West was owing "to the regulations and these might be changed tomorrow." Well, and suppose the regulations could be changed, as Mr. Bennett said, who had the power to change them? At that particular time, Mr. Haultain, Mr. Bennett's chief adversary, was Premier of the Territories; the power of school regulation was exclusively within the right of the Education Department of the Territorial Legislature. Why did not Mr. Bennett insist upon his friend, Premier Haultain, calling the Legislative Assembly together, and fixing the school system so that no assaults might be made upon it in the dim and misty future?

There is a good and sufficient answer why Mr. Bennett took no action. A statesman would have taken action and stood up against the Premier, if he believed the country was in danger. But Mr. Bennett is not a statesman, and he knew then as he knows today—that the educational interests of this great country were not in danger; that it is as Premier Haultain has said, "one of the best systems in Canada." The "ambitious ornate and excessively rapid" style of oratory would not have been repeated were Mr. Bennett to act in a common-sense manner, and the "rushing, impassioned flood of eloquence" would be lost in a quiet little talk with his friend, Premier Haultain. But Mr. Bennett, being a grand stand artist, would not allow his light to be hid under a bushel.

WINNIPEG MARKETS

[From the Commercial]

Oats—No. 1 new oats, 30-1-2c; No. 2 oats, 29-1-2c per bushel in car lots on track Winnipeg.
Barley—No. 3, 34c per bushel; No. 4, 31c per bushel, carlots on track here.
Wheat—Manitoba wheat in the Winnipeg market has been very active, and a large trade has been done during the week. The movement from the country has been liberal although scarcely so large as expected the car inspection during the last few days averaging only around 400 cars. Last week an attempt was made by the leading exporters to hold prices down by an agreement to pay only certain fixed prices and this had the effect of curbing trade at times, but like most combinations of this kind the agreement did not last long, but went to pieces on Tuesday, when the markets became stronger and some one wanted wheat badly. On Monday morning the combine price for No. 1 northern spot or past, Winnipeg was fixed at 75-7-8c while small buyers were paying 78-1-4c. On Tuesday when the combine broke prices went up to 77c and by last night to 78c. SOME MEN
ARE RICH

In Edmonton today because they had foresight enough two or three years ago to buy property which, as the city grew, advanced rapidly in value. Some of them were laughed at—people called them fools—but two short years have abundantly proved the correctness of their judgment, and they are reaping the reward of their faith in the city.

The growth of the city during the past two or three years has been great, but compared with the growth of the next two or three years it will be but as the dawn of day compared with the splendor of the noon-day sun.

You have the opportunity now to do as some few did in the past.

The Groat Estate

Is now on the market at prices which will look small—very small, indeed—in the very near future. The city is growing westward rapidly and ere long this estate will be the choice residential part. No part of this estate is more than two miles from the very centre of Edmonton today—in five years it will be in the very heart of the city.

There are 500 lots—50 x 150 ft.—to be sold on easy terms—one-third cash, and the balance in six and twelve months, without interest. There will be no taxes to pay for over a year.

History Repeats Itself

You can buy from two to ten lots for the same money which it will take to purchase one in the present settled part of the city. Those who sow a few dollars now will reap a rich harvest in the not-far-distant future. Don't miss the chance now—TODAY—and have to say in a year: "What a fool I was that I didn't purchase a year ago." Somebody is going to make money on this estate—why not have a share of it?

LOCAL

The chair car has been taken off the C. & E.

The approach to the bridge on the north side is being repaired.

The ice floating in the river jammed at Fraser's mill this morning.

The Young Bachelors of the city will give a ball, either on Wednesday, October 25, the day before Thanksgiving, or on Friday, October 27.

The stage service for railroad and Veereville has been extended and hereafter the stage for these points leaves Edmonton every Monday and Thursday.

Battleford Herald: Ronald C. McDonald passed through town this week on his way to Edmonton. He put in a day looking up the old-timers of the 80's.

C. H. Dunn of White Whale Lake, is in the city today. There is considerable ice on the lake now, before leaving it was strong enough to bear the weight a considerable distance from the shore.

J. Dickson, commonly known as "Rattlesnake Pete" and C. Slipper left yesterday on a trapping and prospecting trip to the Jasper Pass. Their outfit included a Red River cart as well as several pack animals.

The person who took the bicycle in mistake for his own from the Imperial Hotel, will do himself and the owner a kindness by seeing it at McLaughlin & Secord's store or at the Imperial Hotel.

A street artist amused a considerable crowd at the corner of McDonald and Jasper avenue yesterday. His flow of language was unaltered and his blackboard demonstrations good. The usual number of lambs were shown.

J. S. Black, an old friend of Mayor McKenzie, who has been in the service of the Hudson Bay Co. in Labrador for a good many years, is in the city. He will start a ranch and open a store about a hundred miles east of Wetaskiwin.

Hudson Bay Co. lands have advanced in price. Lands that were formerly sold for from $6.50 to $7.00 are advanced to $7.50 and $8. The change was instituted about October 7, and persons who have purchased in Edmonton since that time at the old figure, will have to either take them at the new figure or give them up.

A meeting of electors of St. Albert will be held on Monday, October 23 at 2 o'clock at Riviere Qu'Barre for the purpose of endorsing the action of the convention held in July, at which Mr. L. Boudreau, of St. Albert, received the nomination. All Liberals and supporters of Mr. Boudreau are cordially invited to be present.

The residents of Morinville were greatly shocked on Tuesday last to hear that C. Archambault of that town, was dead. On Saturday he attended a threshing and was hale and hearty and on Tuesday he was dead of heart trouble. He left, besides a widow, a well grown family to mourn his loss. The funeral takes place today.

Three young Americans, O. B. Moore, J. Makemson and O. Rapp leave today on a trapping and prospecting trip to the Peace River country. They came here from Seattle, but have prospected before in Mexico and the Northwestern states. They leave here full of hope and, if they have a successful season, may attempt the overland route to the Klondyke next summer.

Alberta: The Liberal committee rooms will be opened formally to-night. Yesterday was moving day, and the headquarters of the Liberals were quietly and orderly taken from Room 7 of the Park Hotel, which had been the temporary rooms to the more commodious and more suitable rooms over the office of the Calgary Wine and Spirit Company.

Father Jan, parish priest here, received on Monday the sad news of the death of a brother, a member of the Capuchin order in Constantinople. On Wednesday came further bad news of the death of his mother, which occurred that day. The aged lady had been in poor health for some time and death was directly due to the shock of the news of the death of her son.

M. E. Nicholls of the Toronto World, interviewed in Calgary, said it seems to me the West is in splendid condition. I went to Edmonton and am returning to Toronto after looking over Calgary. It would appear that there is room in Alberta for two big cities, and I believe Calgary and Edmonton will become of great commercial importance. Of course Ontario is greatly interested in the West because of trade relations. We are sending a great many young men to Alberta at present.

Battleford Herald: On Friday evening last, Corp. Harper and a detachment of police returned from a three weeks' chase of a party of horse thieves, with two prisoners, who were found in possession of several of Bourassa's horses which had been taken from his pasture. The capture was made somewhere in the vicinity of Malou Lake and reflects great credit on the police. One of the prisoners is the man who was giving a broncho-busting exhibition in town last summer.

PERSONAL

Miss Gouveau went to Cardston today.

Hon. F. Oliver, Minister of the Interior, is on today's train.

T. G. Hutchings of Poplar Lake returned from Calgary last night.

J. C. Dowdett, of Ross Bros., who has been confined to the General Hospital for over a month, is out again and will soon be attending to business as usual.

C. B. Peterson, of the Merchants Bank, has been transferred to Lacombe and left this morning to assume his duties. His position here is held by W. F. Curke, of Lacombe.

JOINT MISSIONARY MEETING

Strathcona, Oct. 19.—A joint meeting of the Women's Missionary Auxiliaries of Strathcona and Edmonton was held in the Strathcona Methodist church on Wednesday, afternoon, Oct. 18. Mrs. Riddell of Edmonton, read a most encouraging report of the recent Missionary Convention held in Moosejaw. This was the chief feature of the program and aroused much missionary enthusiasm besides being most helpful in point of suggestion for future missionary effort. Prayer and hymns, a most helpful Bible-reading, led by Mrs. Mills, solos by Mesdames Johnston and Tut, respectively, constituted the remainder of an interesting program.

The religious meeting over, a pleasant social hour was spent in the school where the ladies of the local auxiliary served a dainty luncheon. The gathering then dispersed, all feeling that the missionary cause in this community had received an impetus, and that the bond already existing between the sister towns had been strengthened by the strong element of sociability evinced throughout the afternoon's proceedings.

WHITE WHALE LAKE

[Correspondence]

A magistrate's court investigated charges of trespass and unlawful interference made by H. B. Akins against Hugh Burton and Chas. Hunning, and convicted them and committed Hunning for trial on the charge of threatening to use a knife.

Much anxiety exists regarding Corderman's fate. His mysterious disappearance, the amount of money on his person, his recent arrival from Germany, etc., all make the case a startling one. Three R. N. W. M. P. are on the hunt for him. Crops are very good. Potatoes, early rose, are to be seen in Mr. Lent's cellar averaging 2 lbs. each and lots of them, also sugar beets, whoppers and very toothsome. The hay crop is excellent, also grain crops.
